Now Nessus Installation Offline In order to demonstrate the installation process, we will use Microsoft Windows as the target operating system (offline) that is distributed in an isolated environment. Generate and download the license On the online computer (B), open a web browser and navigate to the offline registration page Tenable on the following URL: Here on this page you must provide the challenge code obtained from the target offline computer (A) and also provide our Nessus activation code (license) that we own. Download plugins On the online computer (B), navigate to the offline registration page Tenable on the following URL: Provide the challenge code and activation code Nessus (license). Note that the selection of Microsoft Windows is purely arbitrary and exclusively for demonstration purposes. The offline method is useful in situations where we are required to scan vulnerabilities of an isolated environment without having access to the Internet. Install Nessus offline 1.1. First we need to download the latest Nessus installation package from the Downloads official page: The latest Nessus package is 'Nessus-8.12.0-x64.msi' when writing this article. Here is a quick illustration on how to enable it: If we are connecting using Linux (e.g. Kali), we may use the xfreerdp client and its 'drive' option to upload the installer. Once we have the plugin archive transferred to our destination offline computer (A), we can use the same procedure as described in step 5 above to install them. Generate Challenge Code To generate the challenge code from our existing Nessus installation (online computer A), we must execute the following command: `nessuscli fetch --challenge` The commands usually found in these directories: `directory:OS \Library\Nessus\run\bin\nessuscli\WindowsCA\Program File\Tenable\Nessus\nessuscli.exe` Here is an example of getting the challenge code from Nessus installed on Kali Linux: The current Nessus activation key (license) can be located in the Nessus web user interface: With these 2 pieces of information, we can now download the latest plugins. 239 MiB) and transfer it to our offline instance Nessus (computer A). In the upper right corner, click the 'Manual Software Update' button. Select 'Upload your own plugin archive', then select 'Continue'; Navigate to the compressed TAR file that we uploaded to the system (all-2.0.tar.gz), select it and then click 'Open'. This will allow us to access the desktop and transfer the installation files. Here is an overview of the update process in a few words: OperationComputer A(offline Nessus scanner)Computer B(online computer)Generate challenge codeXDownload latest pluginsXUpload pluginsX1. We will connect to it via a secure channel (eg VPN) using the Remote Desktop Protocol (RDP) interface. This section applies to cases where we have an offline Nessus instance existing in an isolated environment that we would like to update with new plugins. The following screenshot shows: After submitting activation codes, we must get: Voltage License Files A link to the latest plugins Now take the license file obtained along with the plugin archive at-2.0.tar-gz (ca. If you want to know more about Nessus' capabilities, please check out our detailed Nessus overview. First, we must have administrative privileges on the offline target system. 2. 1.3. Install the package (Nessus-8.10.1-x64.msi) on the target system. Overview and prerequisites To download the latest plugins from the Tenable site, we need the following information: Code of .se .sd(aznecid id evaiC )999cc8b777a66f5e44d33cc2222b11aaaaaaaa oipmese da( In the following sections, we will detail how to get them from our existing Nessus installation. Go back to the top. 5. Here is an example: After submitting activation codes, we must get a link to the latest plugins: Download the plugin archive all-2.0.tar-gz (approx. Unfortunately we can not see directly progress, but in the Windows Task Manager we can see that the Nessus process (nessusd) is committed to processing the plugins: We just have to wait. 3. Skip to main content xScusa to interrupt CSS error This tutorial will detail the installation and update of the Nessus Professional vulnerability scanner and its plugins using the Offline method. As proof, check the "Last Update" Plugins date in the web interface. Activate Nessus offline To complete the activation process on the offline computer (A), paste the license file to the text area 'Close Nessus' and click 'Continue', the same as in this screenshot: After the presentation, we should have fully activated our instance of Nessus scanners and now we should be able to create our administrative user. For example: `cd /home/kali/Download xfreerdp /d:ABC /u:admin /p:password /v:10.100.202.43 /drive:data,`pwd`` Using these methods we should be able to comfortably share files with the offline target system (A) and vice versa. The steps documented in this tutorial are applicable to all other supported operating systems: Overview and prerequisites There are 2 important prerequisites for installing Nessus offline. Skip to main content Skip to main content xExcuse to interrupt CSS error The Manual Software Update dialog box appears.
